Why study the Ebacc?

Research shows that students are more likely to progress on to, and remain studying A levels and other Level 3 subjects at Sixth Form or College.

However, for a proportion of students the EBacc subjects might not be the most appropriate choices. Staff will guide you on which subject choices.

EBacc:

- English language and literature
- maths
- the sciences
- geography or history
- a language

How does the grading work at GCSE?

The “old” pass grade of a C equates to a 4 or 5 in the new grading structure.

A “5” is judged to be a “good” pass, and is often the grade required in English and Maths to progress on to many college courses.

A BTEC is a vocational course that you can study at different levels.

A BTEC Level 2 certificate is equivalent to one GCSE.

The BTEC grading system uses a Pass, Merit and Distinction grading system.

A guide to how the BTEC grading system equates to the “old” GCSE grading system is:

Distinction * (D*) = A* at GCSE

Distinction (D) = A at GCSE

Merit (M) = B at GCSE

Pass (P) = C at GCSE

(This grading system is the same for OCR National qualifications)

Instead of the majority of assessment culminating in final exams at the end of Year 11. BTEC courses consist of 60% centre assessed work that is externally moderated and 40% external exam at the end of the course.

KS4 Subjects are a challenge...

At times you will find subjects difficult.

At times you might not enjoy certain topics.

Resilience, determination and a long term view.

Study at home is essential.

So, to conclude

It is essential that you choose your option subjects for the right reasons:

- Not because a friend is choosing particular subjects
- Not because you like a particular teacher; the Key Stage 4 experience may be very different to Key Stage 3
- Not because a friend, brother, sister chose a subject and liked it. You are unique.
- Choose subjects which you and enjoy, or think that you will enjoy.
- Which will be most suited to the longer term plan and the next pathway when you will be making choices again at the end of Year 11?
- Please look through the information booklet and the links to the qualification pages for each subject.
- Email the options@blaconhigh.Cheshire.sch.uk if you have any questions about your choices.
